Pet Expo Volunteers Needed!! April 25-27, 2014

GDCC is again sponsoring the Great Dane Breed Booth at the Pet Expo this year. It will be held at the Orange County Fairgrounds in Costa Mesa. This is a very important activity as it's our chance to educate the public about our breed!

What do you need from you??? YOUR SUPPORT AND HELP!!!

First of all, we need doggie volunteers!! All ages, colors, sex, ears cropped or natural are welcome! HOWEVER, this is an intense and tiring day for the dogs as they are constantly being petted, in close quarters with other dogs and people, and alot of noise. If you would like to volunteer yourself and dog, we'd love to have you, but please be sure your dog can function under control in close quarters with other dogs and people. They have to be "bombproof". IMPORTANT NOTE: Please no bitches in season!!

Second of all, we need people volunteers too! Even if you don't have a dog available to man the booth, we can use you! There's hundreds of people asking questions about our great breed. (How many times can you answer -- How long do they live? How much do they weigh? How much do they eat?, etc.) It's fun to talk to all the people who visit this big event.

If you can volunteer any or all of the days of the Pet Expo for at least a couple of hours, the club greatly appreciates it.

Pat Schempp is coordinating the set-up and volunteers and everything else for the booth. Please contact Pat for questions and details. Her contact info is PSchempp47@aol.com and phone number is (562) 429-4190.

Jim Howey is helping Pat out this year during the Pet Expo days, so you can contact Jim also if you have any questions.

COVER STORY

We'd like to take this time to thank Dick Schaefer for handling our big Mantle boy "Tari" to his AKC Championship last summer in just 9 weekends, with 3 Majors!! What a fun & exciting ride!!

THANK YOU SO MUCH DICK!!

WHY IT'S GREAT TO BE A DOG

- 🐾 No one expects you to take a bath every day.
- 🐾 Your friends never expect you to pay for lunch, dinner or anything else for that matter.
- 🐾 When it's raining, you can lie around the house all day and never worry about being fired.
- 🐾 If it itches, you can reach it.
- 🐾 No matter what itches, no one is offended if you scratch it in public.
- 🐾 It doesn't bother you if your favorite television show is a rerun.
- 🐾 You can wear a fur coat and no one thinks you're insensitive.
- 🐾 April 15 means nothing to you.
- 🐾 People at drive-through windows never charge you for treats.
- 🐾 Your friends don't think less of you for passing gas.
- 🐾 A rawhide bone can entertain you for hours.
- 🐾 No one gets mad at you if you fall asleep while they're talking.
- 🐾 As an adult, it's ok if you haven't amounted to anything except being a dog.
- 🐾 The older you get, the more people respect you.
- 🐾 You can sleep late every day.
- 🐾 If you grow hair in weird places, no one notices.
- 🐾 You never get in trouble for putting your head in a stranger's lap.
- 🐾 There's no such thing as bad food.
- 🐾 You don't have to worry about good table manners.
- 🐾 Someone else combs your hair.
- 🐾 People think you're normal if you stick your head out the window to feel the wind in your hair.
- 🐾 You're always excited to see the same old people.
- 🐾 Having big feet is considered an asset.
- 🐾 If you gain weight, it's someone else's fault.
- 🐾 Everything smells good to you
- 🐾 A garbage can is a fast-food stop.
- 🐾 No one tells you to wipe your nose because it's wet.
- 🐾 No matter where you live, you own the place.
- 🐾 Your mate never complains because you whine.
- 🐾 Puppy love can last.

The Illusive Diagnosis and Alternative Treatment

As most of you know it is not easy to outrun a Great Dane and that was my first clue that something wasn't right. It began with me being able to run faster than Huey, his stride was off and some days I felt as though I was dragging him around the ring. I blamed the heat of the day, later afternoon show times and even wondered if he didn't want to be there. This went on for months. I dismissed that thought that Huey didn't like to show because he always raced to the car and jumped in when it was time to head for the shows and he was always excited when we arrived. Huey's appetite was sporadic, some days he would eat whatever I put in front of him but more often he didn't care much about food. On April 3rd Huey began showing signs of lethargy and within an hour he was so lethargic he had difficulty holding up his head, and walking across the yard, he also began to exhibit a slight limp. Huey soon began to shiver uncontrollably with a fever of 104.3. Off to emergency we went!

After the veterinarian's examination there was nothing specific that could be determined, no respiratory issues, no vomiting, no diarrhea, and abdominal noises were normal. With the lack of specific symptoms it was determined that Huey had a virus; he was given a shot to reduce his fever and sent home. Huey's temperature returned to normal, his appetite was better but still not where it should be and his stride was still off in the ring.

Have you ever had one of those nights that you can't sleep because your dog's tummy is so noisy it keeps you up? Due to Huey's continued lack of appetite and noisy tummy we were again off to a different veterinarian seven days after the first visit, this time due to loud intestinal noises. The veterinarian performed an ultrasound, when the results were received the veterinarian delivered the diagnosis of a prostatic cyst the size of a plum and the words an owner of a show dog never wants to hear, "Huey needs to be neutered". After asking if this was an emergency life threatening issue and being told no, I thanked the veterinarian and took Huey home.

Twelve days later we were able to see our veterinarian who specializes in reproduction, and shows and breeds her own dogs. After her rectal exam and analysis of Huey's semen, she concluded that Huey's prostate was also enlarged with a strep infection in his semen. I asked if neutering was necessary, she advised me in Huey's case that would be a last resort. She then prescribed a 30 day regiment of antibiotics (Baytril 136mg) twice daily, testosterone reduction (Finasteride 10mg) daily, and Metacam (7.5mg) daily. Three weeks later Huey's semen count was normal, his appetite had returned, he was gaining weight (almost too much) his stride was normal and I was now having difficulty keeping up with him in the ring.

My veterinarian has had several successful outcomes using this treatment and some dogs have no reoccurrence of prostatitis for years. There is not a complete understanding of what brings on this illness; however, it is known that it is more common in larger breeds than in small breeds and is thought that in some dogs, hormone level increases brought on by exposure to bitches in heat can cause this.

In Huey's case he suffered another bout eight months later and he has again responded well to this treatment with semen counts, appetite, weight, and stride returning to normal. Although this may not be the preferred treatment for everyone and in Huey's case was not a permanent cure it did provide us the opportunity to complete a very successful show year.

I hope sharing Huey's and my experience with everyone may help in early diagnosis and treatment for others.

Apple Cider Vinegar: A Super Food

Apple Cider Vinegar has long been thought to boost the immune system and provide many benefits to the digestive system. What I have found from fellow breeders about ACV is that it contains 19 minerals in exactly the right amounts to help fight body toxins and inhibit unfriendly bacteria. In turn we have fewer digestive issues, cystitis and mastitis in whelping bitches. The Apple Cider Vinegar helps keep the calcium intake in a soluble state so it can be more easily absorbed into the system. It also helps dissolve and flush out acid crystals that build up in the muscles and joints, which are important in our breed. ACV is too good and too cheap to pass up! Make sure to get Raw Organic Unpasteurized, Unfiltered Apple Cider Vinegar with 'The Mother'. I buy the brand Bragg at a local health food store using 1 tablespoon daily added to my dog food. www.bragg.com for more information

A favorite Quote to start 2014:

"Dogs teach us about faith, trust, and devotion. They teach us how to devotedly serve a higher master, how to attend and wait and how to let go of a drudge. But most of all, they teach us about the meaning and experience of unconditional love". Lama Surya Das, from the book "Dog is my Co-Pilot"

As always use good judgment in the health and welfare of your big dog. Remember to consult your regular Veterinarian when you have questions and concerns.

I encourage everyone to send ideas to share to me at lampe_danes @ yahoo.com. Tell us what makes life with a big dog as easy as it seems, since we do it so well!!

— Janet Lampe

<http://lampedanes.com>

The following is an excerpt from the "Flatiron Press" - Littleton, Colorado.

Acting Responsibly

Sometimes I think we lose sight of the real purpose of our association with dogs and the dog world. Many people in their rush to buy, show and breed never really learn the true meaning of their responsibility to dogs. We become so bound up in the political moves of the dog world, in what dogs can do for us, that we forget that we are actually supposed to be doing something for dogs.

Whether or not you belong to a club, keep in mind your personal responsibility to your breed. This means giving the very best home to your own dog and using your influence on others to do the same. If you are contemplating breeding, don't, unless you feel your dog will make a positive contribution to the breed. All too often people, in their effort to become recognized, feel that if they breed this will somehow establish them as a breeder and bring them prestige. Breeding does not make a breeder.

Responsibility Of The Club:

The primary function of the club are protection of dogs and education of the membership and general public. The all-breed club attempts to educate its members in all aspects of dogs and to make them well-rounded members of the dog world. The breed club has its responsibility in education of its members and non-members in the breed, but should not lose sight of the fact that some members of breed clubs are lacking in all-around education. Therefore, this need should not be ignored in planning club programs.

Responsibility Of The Board:

The Board's responsibility is to further the objectives of the club as outlined in the by-laws. In striving for this goal, the board must not lose sight of the needs and desires of the membership. Since these needs are continually evolving and changing, it is especially important that board members avoid isolating themselves. They must not lose sight of the fact that they are the elected representatives of the membership and, therefore, answerable to the membership. Since the membership supports the club from dues and other fundraising efforts, they should have a voice in how their money is used.

Responsibilities Of The Members:

The members work for the club. What is the point of club membership if it is not to make a contribution to the club and to the world of dogs. When you contemplate joining a club, it should be with the realization that you are going to work. All too often people join a club for prestige of membership. Usually, these people are not workers but are looking for their own advancement through office. In our own all-breed club, no person is considered for board membership without having proved themselves as a hard worker, someone with good ideas and one who will have a positive influence on the membership. Consequently, our board and members are extremely productive. The membership should give strong support to the board as long as the board acts in the best interest of the members.

Breed clubs can be very productive, even with their geographical spread, if they have the leadership with the vision to understand how this can work for them.

If you are currently a member of any club, ask yourself what you can do for that club. Possibly start a program in your area that involves club members and educates both members and non-members.

If you are currently serving on a board, ask yourself what contribution you are making to that club and to the world of dogs. If you are not contributing, why are you serving?

If you are asked to serve on a board, don't accept unless you can make a positive contribution.

There are always programs to be started and worked on in clubs. Those that are creative and productive may initiate them but they need the assistance of helpers and contributors. Make a contribution to the world of dogs by recognizing your abilities and acting accordingly. Don't accept a job you cannot do which can only result in damage to your club.

If you act responsibly and do the best you can, at the end of the year, you should look back and be able to cite at least one contribution you have made to the world of dogs, and that's what it's all about.

Dog Show Wisdom

(Come On Now, We All Know It's True!)

I've learned that if you wear gold lame shoes while showing your dog, no one will remember the dog but they'll never forget your feet.

I've learned that everyone else looks like their dog, not me.

I've learned that the most attractive outfits, the ones that make you look 15 lbs. lighter and three inches taller, don't come with pockets.

I've learned that the words, "Congratulations, you have the better dog," doesn't sound anything like those words when you clench your teeth and swallow your tongue as you say them.

I've learned that if the words, "Congratulations, you have the better dog," are said to you, they're never said loud enough.

I've learned that your dog's performance in the ring is directly related to whether or not you have friends coming to watch you. Just how badly you and your dog do has everything to do with how many witnesses are present to watch you.

I've learned that there IS no graceful way to recover from a fall in the ring when your dress flies over your head and catches on your front teeth.

I've learned that when you have a dog that's on a winning tear, you suddenly have friends who are people you don't know.

I've learned that when you make a major mistake in the ring, clutching at your chest and yelling, "It's the big one" doesn't fool anyone, least of all your dog who only looks embarrassed.

I've learned that W.C.Fields had it right when he said to avoid working next to children because they steal the show.

I've learned never to tell a judge they have food in their teeth, particularly when they're examining your dog's bite.

I've learned that some judges have no sense of humor.

I've learned that large dogs make fools of people unused to showing a dog of that size while toy dogs are quickly dispatched by people accustomed to showing a far bigger dog.

I've learned that next to needlepoint stores, dog show vendors are the most trusting when it comes to taking personal checks.

I've learned that picking up your own dog's waste with a skimpy paper towel isn't as revolting as picking up someone else's dog waste with a front end loader.

My dogs have learned that someone else's bait is always tastier than what I give them.

I've learned that the very best parking spaces have orange cones saving them for someone else.

I've learned that orange cones crush pretty easily.

I've found that the very best people - and the very worst - can be found in our sport.

If you travel with a friend having another breed, one of you will have an early ring time and the other a very late schedule.

If you are exhausted, your dogs will be scheduled in the ring at 8:00 am.

If you're an early riser, or need to get home early your dogs will be scheduled last in the afternoon.

If you are specialing...on the last day of a circuit if you win the breed your group will be LAST.
